

Primary Health Care Research Evaluation and Development (PHCRED)

Writing Grants for 2010 and 2011

Writing Grant Information:

PHCRED at Bond University is delighted to offer several writing grants of up to $4000 each at various times during the year. The next deadline is 31st of October 2010, but you are welcome to submit an application any time to consider in the next round.

These grants are open to anyone interested in primary health care research, including final year Bond University medical students.

These grants are designed to develop research skills, especially with regard to writing a literature review for a research project, a grant proposal, to finalise a Cochrane review or another scientific publication. They provide an excellent opportunity to finish the writing-up of a pilot study or other research project.

Successful applicants will receive training in research skills by personal supervision, small group sessions and by free access to our PHCRED workshops.

Proposals addressing primary health care issues that are aligned with the Faculty's current research involvement or with the priority areas provided by the Department of Health and Aging will be given preference.

Please send a letter of intention stating your name, affiliation and proposal to escheerm@bond.edu.au before 31 October 2010 using the below writing grant application template or ph 07-5595 4411 for more information.
